DISCIPLES LEARN HUMILITY LESSON

Rev. F. K. Dougherty Describes Jesus' Farewell Before His Passion.

The day in which Jesus bid farewell to His earthly friends and prepared for His crucifixion was told by Rev. Frank K. Dougherty, pastor of Grace M. E. church, last night in his sermon on the subject "Thursday, a Day of Farewell." In speaking of the movements of Jesus during that day he said:

"As the evening of Thursday draws near Jesus sets forth upon His last walk over Olivet with His disciples, before His passion. We do not know what words of farewell were spoken when He parted with His beloved friends at Bethany, they fondly hoping to see Him return to lodge with them as before, and He well knowing that His next resting place would be the grave.

"From the moment of His arrival at the upper chamber of Jerusalem, where the passover was prepared, we are assured that His countenance wore a tenderness and solemnity and that the wondering disciples saw the foreshadowing signs of mighty sorrow.

Learn Greatness of Humility.

"Just about to complete His earthly humiliation, and to return to the throne of heaven with all power in His hands and all glory upon His head, Jesus teaches His disciples the greatness of humility. While they are contending with each other for the higher place in His promised kingdom He finds Himself as a servant and washes the feet of them who called Him Lord.

"In place of the great national festival—the feast of the Passover—which the Jewish people had observed with costly rites and bloody sacrifices from the days of Moses, He institutes a simple memorial service to be kept by His followers of every nation to the end of time.

"Jesus and His disciples are at the Passover meal when Jesus says: 'Verily, verily, I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me.' The disclosure makes the company of His fellow-disciples and the presence of the Master intolerable to the traitor. Judas goes immediately out.

"After singing a hymn, He goes with His disciples to the Mount of Olives, where He waits for the armed band—directed by Judas. So ends the last walk of Jesus with His disciples, before His passion. They all forsake Him and flee. Henceforth He goes as a prisoner, guarded and bound. He goes to be tried and condemned, to be mocked and scourged, to be crucified and buried."

COUNTY SCHOOLS CELEBRATE TODAY

First Observance of Indiana's Centennial Takes Place With Varied Programs.

Today the first of the Indiana centennial celebrations in St. Joseph county will be observed, when appropriate exercises will be conducted in all of the county schools. Some time ago Ralph Longfield, superintendent of the county schools, set aside Friday, April 21, as the day for the celebration of the centennial in the county schools.

In two townships a joint celebration by all of the schools will be held in one building. The other schools will each give separate programs.

Probably the most elaborate program of the day has been outlined for the Madison township high school. Here all of the schools of the township will participate. The morning will be given over entirely to athletic events. These will be composed of races, a standing and running broad jump and a ball game. This program will be given under the direction of F. B. Barnes, municipal recreation director.

In the afternoon a program will be rendered and in the evening the gathering will be addressed by Stuart MacKibbin of this city. The following will be the program: Community singing; selection, M. T. C. quartet; recitation, "When John Quit the Farm," Nellie Loucks; "Education in Indiana," Raymond Schreyer; Centennial march, Clara Birck; recitation, Helen Birck; paper, "Wide Awake Warbles," Charles Schurr; selection, quartet; "Early

People of Madison Township," Norman Kelley; "The Good Old Days," Jonas Williams; recitation, Marie Schurr; solo, Mrs. Charles Loucks; address, Stuart MacKibbin; selection, quartet; "Star Spangled Banner," all.

Exercises, with essays devoted to pioneer work in St. Joseph county, will be included in the programs of the other schools. In some schools there will be presented photographic views of pioneers of the townships and of historical objects of the community.
